Milwaukee.—Following close upon the heels of one of the worst blizzards in years, a second blizzard and storm, accompanied by a terrific gale and a cold wave, which yesterday sent the mercury below the zero mark this morning, struck Milwaukee and the entire state yesterday.
The blizzard paralyzed all traffic, except on the city car lines downtown and on some of the interurban and railroad lines, on which some service was maintained under extreme difficulties.
While the fall of snow was not as heavy as that of week ago, according to the weather bureau reports, the blizzard was more severe.

Missouri, Pa.—President Harding last night, after approving Secretary of State Hughes' recommendations as to the reply of the United States government to the proposals of the allies concerning the payment of the American army of occupation of the Rhine.

The secretary communicated all the facts to Mr. Harding here—it was the first official act of importance on the occasion of the trip.

and briefly outlined the course that he thought should be taken. Already the reply has been dispatched to Paris along the lines of Mr. Hughes' recommendation, which was that the allied proposal should be rejected.

There is a little doubt that the procedure of the allies in this matter has not helped their efforts to secure cooperation of the United States.

Madison.—Two moves to force an early adjournment of the 1923 session of the legislature are planned for the present week.

A joint resolution will probably be introduced in the assembly setting Friday, May 18, as the date when the two houses will have to complete their business and leave for home. In the senate a bill is expected setting the same time for adjournment.

Leaders in the assembly and Senator Herman J. Severson of the senate are understood to be favorable to these attempts to set a definite time for completion of legislative work. They wish to carry out their promises of a short session.

Should these promised measures receive the support of both houses they would force the joint finance committee to push its work through to an early completion, and would make it (Continued on page 4.)

SOUTH WISCONSIN BURIED IN SNOW STOPS BUSINESS

From every section in Southern Wisconsin the same story of the Sunday storm—greatest drifts seen in years which made roads impassable, traffic perilous and with no train service in some towns resulted in complete isolation. Church services were abandoned, and many trains dispatched to Paris along the lines of Mr. Hughes' recommendation, which was that the allied proposal should be rejected.

Telephone and telegraph service was little affected by the snow storm, the snow being light but driven by a stiff northeaster. Bus service, it was reported by various towns, had not been running the past week, and the great drifts Sunday were assurances (Continued on page 3.)

Madison.—The two general highway tax bills prepared by the joint highway committee of the legislature, after nine weeks of the session and will be brought into the senate Tuesday morning, providing George Staufenmayer, chairman of the committee, does not refuse to take responsibility for the proposals. Senator Staufenmayer claims now that he has not been empowered to act for the joint committee.

These two measures, one the graduated income tax and the other a two-cent gasoline tax, are estimated to raise $1,000,000 annually from automobile owners. They both are to be strenuously opposed on the floor in their present form, and it is the opinion of the best informed circles that both bills will be amended in essential respects before they are able to get through the legislature.

The weight tax measure is estimated to raise $8,000,000 for use on the 10,000 mile state trunk highway system, upon the following scale of rates:

Passenger Automobiles.
Weight in pounds. Fee.
Less than 1600 $10.00

Governor Has Not Cleared up Tax Situation but Hopes to Make Many Changes

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison.—Governor Blaine is calling groups of legislators to his office daily for conferences on taxation in an effort to learn their views and to get something of his proposed plans for a general tax bill. He is devoting his attention to the assembly at present, but is expected within the next week to call in senators.

Those who have been in the conference with the governor say that he has only tentative suggestions for change in the present tax laws. While emphasizing the general revenue situation and discussed means of raising additional funds.

Chicago.—With only one day intervening before the theoretical arrival of spring, the Mississippi valley from the Rocky Mountains eastward and from the far northwest to upper Florida today was gripped by a bitter cold wave and part of the area was covered by snow, piled into drifts by the high winds that were general throughout the region.

Sub-zero and near zero temperatures prevailed as far south as southwestern Missouri while southern states reported low temperatures for the first time of the year. In the upper Mississippi valley and the Rocky mountain region train service was paralyzed. Many trains were stalled in snow drifts yesterday, telephone communications disrupted and roads closed.

Chief of Police Ben Hanson of Stoughton. Mrs. Zwigel went to Madison looking for work and was arrested.

Another suggestion, reported to have been made by the governor, is that the personal property tax be removed from the list of taxes to be levied for state purposes and left in effect for the proportion of the state tax for municipal purposes.

This would in effect be a compromise between the two proposals. It would remove the entire effect, and the Severson surtax proposal which removes it on income paying the surtax.

Governor Blaine has told Speaker Dahl of the assembly and Senator Severson, authors of the two tax bills now before the legislature that he intends to make some addresses out in the state, concerning the tax problem. He also expressed the desire to newspaper men that he be given an opportunity to present a number of facts on taxation to the people through the press.

FIGHT STARTS AS HANSON MOVES TO CONSIDER TAX BILL

HOSTILITY TO PROGRAM OF GOVERNOR DEVELOPS IN ASSEMBLY.

DAHL BILL OUT? May Pay No Attention to Blaine's Plans and Go Ahead.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison.—Rebellion against the governor's attitude on the tax bills which has been foreshadowed during the past week came to a realization in the first shot fired by the radical leaders Monday morning. It was the first move to force action against the program of the governor. It came when the C. E. Hanson bill providing for removal from personal property of the income tax was withdrawn from the taxation committee and placed on the calendar as a special order of the business for Thursday evening. This action was taken in the face of the request of Governor Blaine that all tax legislation be held up until he can present his revenue bill.

Hanson Moves to Recall. Assemblyman J. C. Hanson, Dane county, made the motion to recall the personal property of the bill from the committee. It was immediately adopted without opposition.

SUPERIOR HIT BY BIG FIRE

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Superior.—Fire early Sunday morning destroyed the major portion of the large stock of the Tower Clothing company, Thirteenth street and Tower avenue.

Damage to the store was estimated at about $15,000 which was partially covered by insurance according to Louis Larson, proprietor of the store. The spring goods, recently received, had not been unpacked and were a total loss, he said.

The blaze, which is thought to have been started by some defect in the furnace, broke out in the morning and spread rapidly.

It is a religious organization. Hanson and his wife allege in their bill of complaint that fraud was practiced upon them when they joined the organization, declaring they were led to believe the colony was of a religious nature. They said they discovered the House of David engaged in various commercial activities in Benton Harbor.

The defense will contend it was announced by attorneys at the opening of the trial that the colony was a religious organization. Hanson and his wife allege in their bill of complaint that fraud was practiced upon them when they joined the organization, declaring they were led to believe the colony was of a religious nature.

GANFIELD WILL MAKE ADDRESS AT H. S. EVENT

William A. Ganfield, president of Centre college, and one time president of Centre college, is to be the main speaker at a dedication exercises at the new high school Monday night, March 27. Dr. Ganfield is well-known here, where he has given many excellent addresses, and the dedication exercises will be that much the more interesting for his talk.

Prof. Thomas Lloyd Jones of the University of Wisconsin, will represent that organization. Prof. Jones is one of the most prominent members of that faculty and in addition is prominent in the activities of the North Central Association of Universities and Colleges.

State Superintendent John Callahan will represent the state department of education, and local officials who are to be on the platform on this occasion, are to be announced later. Arrangements are being made to have a reproduction apparatus in the gymnasium so that high school pupils and others could be seated there and hear the talks given in the auditorium, which will doubtless be much too small to handle the crowd that is expected.

PAUL BERGER FINED FOR INTOXICATION

Pleading guilty to a charge of intoxication, Paul Berger was sentenced to 30 days in jail, Monday, by Judge H. J. McKnight. In default of a fine of $25 and costs, Berger was arrested in Monterey, Saturday night, by Night Driver William Ford and Motorville Patrolman George Porter.

After complaints had been made that he and Edward Meyers had been creating a disturbance about the old Bergersman house, Meyers eluded arrest by hiding in his house and could not be found there later, police said.

HOUSE OF DAVID ACTIVITIES TO BE AIDED IN COURT

FORMER MEMBERS OF SECT SUE FOR $80,000 ON PROPERTY.

TRIAL IS OPENED Fraud Charged in Action Against Benjamin Purnell, Head of Michigan Colony.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—A suit which attorneys for either side say will delve to the very foundations of the House of David religious colony at Benton Harbor, was begun in United States district court here Monday.

The action is that of John W. Hanson and wife of Nashville, Tenn., instituted to collect the sum of $80,000 from Benjamin Purnell, head of the colony, the plaintiffs claiming that sum due them from property turned over to the organization when they joined the House of David and for labor performed by Hanson, his wife and six children while they were members.

Hanson and his wife, the bill of complaint sets forth, were expelled from the organization. Defense attorneys say the expulsion followed alleged attempts on the part of Hanson to organize a revolt in the colony against the leadership of Purnell.

Hanson and his wife allege in their bill of complaint that fraud was practiced upon them when they joined the organization, declaring they were led to believe the colony was of a religious nature. They said they discovered the House of David engaged in various commercial activities in Benton Harbor.

The defense will contend it was announced by attorneys at the opening of the trial that the colony was a religious organization. No trains ran on the Chicago and North Western railway between Janesville and Fond du Lac. The same was true of the Davis Junction line of the St. Paul. No Northwestern was bob-run on the line. There were no Northwestern connections with Rockford Monday.

Run Via Janesville. On the west end of the Mineral Point division of the St. Paul, there was nothing either way Monday morning. A snow plow was sent out here as far as Rockford, then went over the line to Albany. On this division, due at 4:45 p. m. Sunday, got in at 7:50 p. m.

Minneapolis and Rochester limited trains on Chicago & North Western, unable to make their regular route by way of Milwaukee, were sent through Janesville, Monday. There were four of these special trains, all coming in here in a bunch early Monday morning and running 12 hours and more behind time.

GRAIN EXPORTS

Washington, D. C., exports from the United States last week amounted to 3,223,000 bushels as compared with 5,147,000 for the previous week.

Some Things About the Storm

Tied up traffic for the second time in a week. Blew from 30 to 40 miles an hour part of the time. Drifted all the roads and cuts full. Swept bare spots in fields. Made it impossible for any train to run west to Mineral Point. Killed the Chicago train on the Milwaukee line so that it remained over at Whitewater.

Blocked traffic in the country and reduced the milk deliveries to creameries and depots more than fifty per cent. Made this church congregations Sunday almost universal. Caused the school at St. Mary's to be closed until traffic was opened. Stopped all taxi cab lines in the city after 2 p. m. Sunday. Interurban cars stopped. Telephone communication kept up remarkably well. Chicago line out of commission. One open to Milwaukee all day Sunday.

Accompanied by a temperature of four degrees above zero and whirled in great drifts by a gale, a blizzard, the proportions of which surpassed anything experienced here since 1911 blanketed the entire middle west, Sunday. It was followed by a further drop in the mercury to four degrees below zero at 6 a. m. Monday.

The fall of snow amounted to 8 inches, making 32 inches for the past week.

Monday, railroads and others were digging out thinking of the fact that spring is due Wednesday at 2:29 a. m. More than 300 people were stalled overnight in blockaded trains.

Railroads were more paralyzed than for years. Rural highways are impassable. Many of the streets in the city are so piled with snow that it is impossible for vehicles to pass through.

Few ventured from their homes, Sunday to face the icy blasts and stinging flakes. Churches suffered. Some of the theaters cancelled Sunday day matinees. Hotels were crowded with stranded travelers.

5 Engines Stalled at Avalon. Attendance at public schools Monday was cut down 50 percent, while St. Mary's parochial school suspended.

The effects of the storm were not so damaging as those of the first of the four last Sunday and Monday. With five locomotives stalled, the Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul train due here at 8:45 p. m. Sunday from Chicago stuck its double-headed nose in a great drift at Avalon and remained there all night and early morning, all night and arrived here at 11:30 p. m. Sunday, lying up here instead of continuing to Chicago.

Three more engines were sent to the rescue and efforts were made to get three cars pulled out by the great power of the combined engines.

Hungry on Train. Two hundred and fifty people suffered from hunger when train No. 10, the St. Paul, due here at 10 a. m. Sunday, was held up at Palsmyra through the night and early morning, all night and arrived here at 11:30 p. m. Sunday, lying up here instead of continuing to Chicago.

Madison, Wis.—The Hausmann Brewing company malt house and building were destroyed by fire which commenced at 3 o'clock this morning. The loss was set at $100,000. MILKING SHORTHORN TESTS

Development of cows that will produce at least a pound of fat a day to prove milking qualities is one of the important projects before the Rock County Milking Shorthorn Cow Testing association. Since the organization of this association, the only one in the United States, considerable progress has been made in establishing milk records on the dual purpose cattle.

The report made by Clayton E. Fisher, tester for February, shows 29 cows that produced better than 35 pounds of fat with credible herd averages. A registered cow owned by George Wenham, in 10 days milking, is credited with 49 pounds of milk and 3.2 pounds fat, a daily average of 3.02 of fat. The Shorthorn association now has 26 members, a full organization and rapid increase in production abilities is noted where the testing work is followed.

During the last two weeks a number of registered animals were shipped from Rock county for exhibition and sale in Mexico City. Buyers were in the county looking for stock for Iowa and Illinois. Good prices prevailed for both registered and good grade stock. The calf crops declared to have merit, northern Shorthorns being the favorite for the purpose. Many of the top quality cows were bred to freshen for the fair and fat stock show, so that Rock county will have an improved herd for exhibiting next fall.

Southern Wis. ALL TIED UP IN SNOW DRIFTS
that it would not be resumed for an indefinite period.

Pastors preached to empty pews at morning services, few persons venturing out into the blinding storm which raged in most parts to late in the evening. Night services were abandoned in many instances. Village and city streets were deserted. No city buses, school or entertainment other than that enjoyed at home.
Motion picture houses had the slightest attendance seen in months.

Drifts, it was reported, were from two to five feet deep, with many bar-ren places near each.

Fight to Deliver Milk.
Farmers in bob sleds bravely fought to get their milk to market. An automobile at Ogdenville the past week has been a novelty, with bob sleds and sleighs and every conveyance with runners pressed into service, as opening the roads has been practically impossible.

The Gazette, correspondent at Elkhorn said there is no traffic between Lake Geneva and Elkhor, and the concrete road between Delavan and Elkhor was practically obliterated.

East and west roads seem to be the worst blocked, indicating the direction from which the gale came.

Salesmen and other visitors to towns were marooned over Sunday night and indications were it would be Tuesday before train service could be restored.

In spite of the storm a robin at Whitewater sat chirping in front of the George Marsh home.

Schools closed.

Many schools were not planning to run Monday, and others faced resolutions with many empty seats. It was not expected that rural schools would run at all, the drifts making arrival of children at school a practical impossibility.

Whitewater, Delavan, Ft. Atkinson,
Ogdenville, Frodo, Sharon, Clinton,
Evanston, Edgerton and other places had the same report.

TWO TRAINS STALLED.
ALL NIGHT AT SHARON.
Sharon.—Three trains on the Chicago and Northwestern, two of which were equipped with snow plows were stalled all night Sunday about two miles west of Sharon, and another train heavily loaded with passengers stayed at the Sharon depot. Ten men from this village worked throughout the night in helping to break the blockade in a great cut, which was accomplished about 7 a. m. Monday when the tie-up was broken.

ST. PAUL SERVICE IS HELD UP SUNDAY.
Palmyra.—Train service on the Milwaukee-Mineral Point division of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road was held up all day Sunday and until 5 o'clock Monday morning when five freight cars were derailed two miles east of Whitewater. The cars were loaded with merchandise and part of a 23 car freight train going to Madison. Indefatigable work on the part of the crew in the blinding storm resulted in the wreck being cleared at 5 a. m. Monday. 25 hours after the cars had gone off the track. The crew recalled the cars using frogs. One train carrying large number of passengers from Milwaukee to their homes were forced to spend the night here Sunday.

80 PASSENGERS STAY
IN WHITewater TRAIN.
Whitewater.—About 80 passengers on the "milk" train from Janesville to Milwaukee became stalled here at 7 p. m. Sunday and was held at the same hour Monday morning.
The train was held here on account of the wreck two miles from the city. A snow plow was traveling east Monday morning.

RURAL MAIL UNDELIVERED
While conditions for the delivery of mail in rural districts are even worse than they were last Monday, drifts in the city were not as bad and were sufficient to enable the city mail carriers and little difficulty in reaching most of the homes on their routes.
Where the walks were not shoveled, however, they made no effort to deliver and will mail carriers were all on hand on Monday morning to start their routes, but all were returning about 10 and 11 o'clock. Few were able to get more than a mile or so past the city limits, and sometimes only the outskirts of the city before striking deep drifts and turning back.

Deliveries had just about reached normal Saturday, and now the trials of last week must be gone through again.

PEOPLE'S WORKER

SKIDD MFG. CO. IS MOVING TO OHIO

Canton Concern—Local Trustee Named.

Under the terms of a contract signed late Saturday afternoon, the Skidd Manufacturing Company, of Janesville, has sold its factory equipment, including a good will of the Charles Skidd Manufacturing Co., West Milwaukee street, have been sold to the J. H. Miller Industries Co., of Canton, O. The Skidd company retains the brick building which was purchased from the Janesville Products Co.

The Skidd company came to Janesville in 1917 and manufactured dairy equipment such as is used in fluid milk bottling plants, creameries and cooling stations. The machinery represented a considerable investment for much of the equipment was of special type, coming from Europe.

The Miller company will move all the machinery and equipment to Ohio where this concern has recently completed a $750,000 plant. Will Continue Life. Charles Skidd, president of the company here, will become associated with the Ohio corporation, and continue the production and sale of the Skidd line under the Miller name. The Janesville man will carry on production and sales work.

The Miller Industries Co., has been engaged for some years in manufacturing dairy equipment, with special attention to ice cream machinery. J. H. Miller, the president, Morris B. Miller, secretary, Canton and George B. Pitts, Cleveland, an attorney, were in Janesville during the negotiations.

Terms of Sale. Under the terms of the sale agreement, the Skidd company receives approximately one-third of the purchase price paid down at the time of the signing of the contract and the balance is paid in quarterly installments over a period of two years.

For convenience and assurance that all creditors be met in full, the Skidd company has arranged with the Merchants and Savings bank to act as a trustee until all accounts due are paid in full. The bank is reported to have received the initial payment and it was announced Monday that the bank would send to creditors the major portions due.

The balance will be paid from accounts due, including notes and deferred payments. It was stated. Company Declared Solvent. Attorneys declared the Skidd company solvent with outstanding liabilities sufficient to meet all obligations. The trust agreement is being made to hasten the settlement of all claims and close up the company's business.

The building will be sold at some future time. The sale comes through no defect or lack of business for the Skidd products, rather the Miller company, having a high rating, desired to extend their operations to include the equipment produced by the Skidd patents. Roger Cunningham represented the Skidd company in the sale.

FIRE DEPARTMENT TEAM BUCKS DRIFTS

The fire department's lone team of horses proved of service again Sunday night, when they hooked onto a bob-sleigh and hauled firemen through the drifts to the home of George Kelly, 433 Hickory street, where a chimney fire had caused a severe fire. While the trucks will be able to respond to alarms in the business district, Chief C. J. Murphy has the bob ready for calls in outlying sections.

P. C. B. A. ELECTS ITS NEW OFFICERS

Seven Herds Chosen for Fair Exhibit Here—Pig Distribution.

Officers were elected for the Rock County Poland-China Breeders' association during the meeting held in the court house here Saturday afternoon. The election was as follows: Charles Maltby, Beloit, President; W. O. Douglas, Hanover, vice-president; A. O. Purseth, Evansville, secretary and treasurer.

The directors named were as follows: James Murray, C. J. McKown, Frank Kohn, Normal Little, Robert Lamb, Janesville; Frank Milbrandt, Evansville, and C. S. Boynton, Avon.

A committee composed of President Maltby and Secretary Purseth was named to select the pigs to be distributed through the Rock county fair pig club. The present applications indicate that between 60 and 80 Poland pigs will be needed for the club work. Only good quality animals will be allowed to represent the breed.

Seven herds were elected for the promotion show to be staged at the Janesville fair. Three more herds are desired so as to secure the $100 offered by the national association in addition to $100 from the fair board. Ten herds must be elected before June 1 and it is a question of putting in early applications to obtain the pig club money.

Poland-China litters will be nominated during the next two weeks for the Rock county fair pig club. Cold weather has caused some breeders several losses, March being a favored month for farrowing dates.

JANESVILLE DIGS WAY OUT OF SNOW BARRIER

where they were forced to dig up for the night. They reached here at 5:30 a. m. Monday with more than 300 worn out and hungry passengers. Their progress had been delayed by a snow pile stuck in a drift at Shaw 50 feet long by nine feet high. With the specialists, they made six trains bound up with snow plows ahead and behind of each one, making the largest number of trains ever to follow each other in to the local depot.

Elroy Train Cancelled.
On the Northwestern, the train from Elroy due out here at 3:30 a. m. was cancelled Monday. Train No. 520 on the same line from Elroy to Chicago, due here at 3:05 p. m., got out at 5:45 p. m. Sunday and was then forced to remain in Beloit over night.

Monday, Trains 521 and 524 on the Northwestern were cancelled north of Janesville, coming this far from Chicago and turning back. No. 511 was the first train through Janesville on the Northwestern Monday, getting here at 7 a. m. Sunday morning, trains ran fairly near on time during the early hours but toward noon drifting got worse. The 11:20 a. m. from Chicago to Madison, due here at 11:20 a. m. did not get away from the local station until 3:15 p.

Plows, Shovels Busy.
The railroads were making strenuous efforts with snow plows and gangs during the early hours to get their lines in shape. Statements were made by both lines that as soon as they can get equipment in shape they will be back on schedule, which is expected to be by Tuesday morning. Indicating the lengths to which they went, the St. Paul had 60 men shovelling at the Palmyra extended station, it was said at the local office.

Train crews were near exhaustion Monday. Most of them had worked at least 16 hours straight and some were on the job more than 24 hours. Considerable difficulty was experienced by snow drifting through into the fire box of engines putting out fires.

There were no freights on either the Northwestern or the St. Paul Sunday or Monday. There was practically nothing but emergency switching in the yards.

Tons of mail were piled upon the local station platforms Monday morning, coming all in a bunch following the severe tie-ups of Sunday. The mail and express cars were being moved around with horses attached because of the deep snow.

More than 150 passengers, at both the Northwestern and St. Paul depots, were marooned here over night, some waiting in the stations, but most of them seeking rooms at hotels.

The Rockford and Interurban line was unable to maintain regular schedules Sunday. On Monday traffic was tied up during the morning when a passenger train left the trucks near the Culver. It had followed behind a snow plow which got through a 10 foot drift and was adding by pushing. Passengers left the train and walked or found other means of getting to the city.

The Janesville Traction company was being pinned Monday for the manner in which it kept its lines open Sunday on Milton avenue, as far as Benton avenue, on Milwaukee street to the railroad tracks, and on Main and Franklin streets. A heavy express car was brought here from Rockford Saturday night and this with the aid of the regular sweeper, labored all through the storm to keep the right of way clear.

Wire Service Affected Little.
Telephone and telegraph lines were little affected. The wire chief of the Janesville office of the Wisconsin Telephone company reported no toll trouble and but few cases of wires down within the city limits. The trouble done by the storm a week ago had been practically repaired, Saturday, but three places being left to be mended.

Have was wrought by the storm a week ago and 1,400 poles are reported down between Chicago and Milwaukee along the lake shore towns and 1,000 poles must be replaced between Chicago and the Wisconsin state line. As a result Janesville has no line to Chicago, and hasn't had for a week, neither can Rockford be reached. The Rockford district extends to the state line and the crew has been slow in repairing the damage.

The Western Union reported its lines O. K. Sunday and Monday. The Postal Telegraph company has been hard hit all week and did practically no business, the lines to Chicago

SYNOPSIS OF PRECEDING CHAPTERS.

Pandora Nicholson is so painfully shy that when she meets new people she can think of nothing to say to them, and never knows what to do with her hands or feet. She lives as a poor relation with her Aunt Gladys, her uncle and her very popular daughter, Gladys, all of whom frequently tell her she is hopelessly stupid and queer. She has only one friend, Morton, who is like her, whom she loves devotedly. When Gladys, who has everything, suddenly marries Morton Pan faces herself heartbroken.

She goes to New York to live with Gloria Gates, a brilliant, vivacious woman, whose life is so different from hers. Among kinder people Pan begins to find herself. She finds she really likes Gloria's friend, George, who goes with them that summer to Europe. Pan, now a widow, marries Stuart Collins, leaving Pan in charge of the house. George, who has been in France, returns to London. He says he has always been in love with Pan.

CONFIDENCES.

Chapter 59.

"No, I shouldn't like it," Pan objected mildly. "First of all it would be mean to spoil Mrs. Clarke's party to another one so much and she's having such a good time."

"And I shouldn't want my family—no, I'd like my father of course. He would understand—the other—"

She broke off and sat quietly for a moment. They were seated on the long couch in Mr. Clarke's study, a big shabby affair that Mr. Clarke adored lying on his back, looking at his chest and his eyes focused at a most unhealthy angle for reading.

"It's probably wicked of me," she went on. "But the others belong so entirely to other parts of my life that I want to keep them out as much as possible from this new life. That is, I should like to see them now and then and hear from them, they were good to me, I suppose—"

"Not very, when they worked you hard and did everything they could to hurt you," George would naturally always be resentful towards the aunt and uncle and cousin.

"Your father I'd like, I think, the whimsical, impractical, lovable sort. I tramped the Rockies once with a guide like that."

"Yes, you'd like him. We'll make him come and see us, if we can persuade him to stay in the city for more than a day or so," Pan said.

"He's doing really well," George said, and he likes ranch life. Out in the wilds he sees half a dozen men only, and two women, wives of other men. He likes that—and I don't believe he misses me. It's odd how well he can get along without people. He doesn't care for anyone in the world but me, but I can get along without me for years at a time and not be unhappy. I'm not like that. I want people, and I could get along very well without someone I loved—you, for instance."

She had an odd little trick of tucking her hand into his as they sat together—a habit George liked because it was simple and sweet and childish, like herself.

"I don't want you to have to, get along without me," he said. "As for the aunt and uncle, you shall see them when you want."

"I had a letter from Aunt Maude," Pan remarked. "She said Gladys' baby was a boy and big and healthy and looked very much like Morton, only prettier. Morton was homey, you know. Gladys is perfectly happy now. I can see her, she has everything in life she wants, a husband, a house and a child."

"The great essentials," George commented.

"Ah yes—but I want all that and so much more! I want you to be in love with me always. Gladys doesn't care much about that. She wanted Morton in just the same way as she wanted a new oak dining room suite. She has the same pleasure in looking at him as she has in looking at her suitcases, a possession. She has as much pleasure and as few thrills as little actual joy—I don't know what I want to say."

She turned to him, half smiling, wholly tender.

"Then suddenly: 'This is what I want,' she said. And she loosened her hand from his and put both arms around his neck and kissed him on the lips, and kissed him with a warmth that surprised him, that made him hold her tightly and lean to let her go."

"That's love and passionate love too," she said with a quaint little wisdom. "I want that, and I want love as well—I'd like to tramp the Rockies with you. I've roughed it with father and it's been great fun."

"We'll do it—next summer—or this Autumn when we get back if it isn't too cold, and if Gloria comes, I'll take care of her child," George said.

"Gloria! Pan came back to earth and her sense of duty. 'George, we must let her know. Perhaps she would want to come back for the wedding, for it's really going to be a wedding after all. I can see that. Perhaps—'

"She might feel offended if we didn't let her. All right, I'll send her a long wire tonight and you can write her. I'll pull out a list of addresses from a pocket book with the hotels they would stay at and the probable time they would be there."

"Write to the Grand Hotel in Rome. I fancy they'll be there now," he said. "Pan, you must draw on Gloria's bank account for all these clothes Mrs. Clarke is getting you. I'll fix it later with Gloria. As a husband, I've a perfect right to—"

"For your wife's wedding dress?"

The little mood of intensely had passed. If George was hoping it would come back, he was disappointed when Mrs. Clarke's voice came. "After a discreet interval she entered the room."

"Some people have already arrived," she announced. "So I must leave you away, poor George! I know he hates me. But, children, I have a new idea and wanted to speak to you before we went out and were hosts and hostesses. Why don't you take our farm for your honeymoon? We shan't go down there for weeks yet. It's quiet and secluded and pretty, no one there but the servants. You can be as far from the world as you want."

Pan looked her joy at this, and even George was pleased. It was an ideal spot to spend a honeymoon!

Tuesday—Going Away.

She was in a telephone booth and had just put in a call. She spoke bitterly as she pulled down on the hook to attract Central's attention.

"Hello!" came Central's clear voice.

"I—hello," she gasped. "I want my money back. Harold wouldn't speak to me."—New York Sun.

It was at a spiritualistic seance, and the professor was asking for suggestions.

"Well," said one of the audience, "have often thought I should like to speak with dear old Cardinal Newman."

"We'll see what we can do, sir. It all depends upon the mood of the medium."

Lights were lowered, and soon a figure clothed in a white gown emerged from the darkest corner. In order to impress the audience with his genuineness, the alleged Cardinal advanced, extended his arms, and, in an impressive tone, exclaimed, "Benedictine!"—The Bits (London).

Heart and Home Problems

Letters May Be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in Care of the Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a married woman 20 years of age. My husband is 15 years my senior. Because I am young I think I have poor judgment. He speaks kindly to me, but wants to play cards and drink in fact do as he pleases on Saturday and Sunday. He doesn't want to take me anywhere, but doesn't object if I go alone or with some one else. We have a baby one year old. He says it is my place to stay home with the baby, as she might contract some disease. I do everything I can to please him, but he calls me a "kid," and says I'll learn some day. I am as economical as I know how to be. I am a housewife, laundry and sewing, but my husband says I am lazy. He makes fun of me for being afraid when he is out at night and says I ought to be happy that I have a place to go to and something to eat. He says that is nothing to me that he fumbles and drinks and fails to come home from work until midnight and until the next day sometimes. He says that he does not want me to marry him. I tried to get him to go to church with me, but he says he hasn't clothes fit to wear. Then I want to him to take me to dances, but he says I can't dance and would be awkward. When I make an appeal to him he asks me how I can help myself. We are about 1,800 miles from my relatives and I have to tell them about my unhappiness for they don't want me to marry my husband. What shall I do? I can't stand to live this way. I would be unhappy without him, but he makes my life an agony with him.

You are married to a born tease, a man who insists on laughing his way through life, and with your conscientious nature it is difficult to laugh with him or understand his point of view. Try to see the funny side when he calls you lazy, because it really is funny for him to do so, as he is a man who works and he knows it. But the worse in a makes him want to bother you. I am sure there was a twinkle in his eye when he told you that you would be awkward if you tried to dance.

To try to "reform" a man with a nature like your husband's is a wasted effort. Don't realize everything he does from matter of principle; try to realize that he has his life to live and it is no more right for you to tell him what he should and should not do than it is for him to decide such such matters for you.

It is old fashioned to say that it is the woman's place to stay at home with the baby. As a matter of fact every mother needs time away from her child for her own sake and for the child's so that her point of view will be refreshed. If possible get some competent person to stay with your baby and get away from home more so that you will not get nervous and weary of your life.

Cultivate your sense of humor; sympathize with your husband and do not hold him; live your own life and not your husband's; spend money where it is necessary and do not save it for your husband to waste. You love your husband too much to leave him and I am sure he loves you.

LONESOME: It is quite impossible for people to meet through my column. I am sorry I cannot help you in this matter because I realize your loneliness. Perhaps if you attend church and speak to the minister he will help you to meet some widowers over 60.

BEAUTY CHATS by Edna Forbes Kent

THE SHAPE OF YOUR SHOES

Most women when they purchase shoes examine the tops and the style. Few ever turn the shoes around to examine the shape of the soles, yet the real test lies in the quality here.

If you do not make this simple test you cannot tell how comfortable your shoes will wear nor how well they will use since in the shop you never wear more than a few steps in them. If the soles are cut to a sharp point, sloping in on each side, you may be sure that there is discomfort ahead of you, until somehow you have stretched those shoes to accommodate your foot. You may be sure, also, that a bunion will develop on each of your large toe joints.

The sensible shoe can be smart in appearance, in fact the broad toe low heel style is gradually coming into favor, as proved by the fact that the smartest shoes carry them at the highest prices. Fortunately, however, for the girl with the slim purse, plain sensible shoes can be found at moderate prices, though she may have to search diligently to find them.

She can always purchase what are called "walking shoes" or sport shoes which come with moderate heels and fairly wide toes. She can find what the shops call "college girls' shoes," which combine smartness with comfort. I have often wondered why this combination of style and comfort is not more popular, but have blessed the fact that these shoes come in sizes up to six and seven as any woman can wear them, and also that they cost several dollars less than a similar quality in a less sensible fashion.

My advice to you, if you value the beauty of your feet and your comfort, is to search out this sort of shoe.

Ruth—A girl with reddish brown hair should find it such an asset that she should not want to change the shade.

Constant Reader—Muscles sag because they have lost their firmness. It happens when people are run down or becoming elderly.

If you are near sighted you should be wearing glasses. Since you are avoiding their help and straining the sight, therein may be the cause for this peculiar expression which gives turning to that dark shade. It will help much also if you dry such hair in the sunshine.

Breakfast, Prunes—Kind a rather good salad, prunes, the kind the grocer calls a 45-50. Wash, soak over night. Do not plan to serve them the next morning, for a hot prune is liked by few people. During the day cook the prunes slowly. They will require a lot of cooking. Add the sugar that is needed. Do not make them too sweet. If the family likes the flavor, cook a small amount of fresh lemon slices with them. Be sure that there is not so much water that the juice is a thin, watery, brownish liquid. Set the prunes in a cool place. As they stand during the day the flavor blends throughout, making a rich, glossy fruit for next morning's breakfast.

3 Overtime Periods Mark R. F. B. Win Over Cats, 26-25

Intense Rivalry Makes Third Game a Sizzler; Roughness Big Feature

Requiring three overtime periods—five minute stanzas that were furious—the third game of the city cage title series went to the R. F. B.'s Saturday night.

A free throw rung up by Capt. Hager at 30 seconds to go gave the Flyers the battle, 26 to 25.

Chadsey was the man called for the foul.

Records do not show any previous game played here that demanded a triple overtime.

While 250 frenzied fans shouted themselves hoarse, the teams found themselves tied up, 25 to 25, at the close of the regular time.

The game was rough during the regular voyage. It was violent in the three extra sessions. There were fouls that were called and there were fouls that slipped by unchecked.

There was blocking, charging, tripping—so much of it that it more resembled football than basketball and both sides were guilty.

Fractions were into rare antics of anger, tearing their lungs with bitterness.

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

All Hands Down.

The first extra inning developed rapidly into a free-for-all. Players rushed up and down the boards and flipping the ball at the meshes from any angle. It saw no score but showed the Flyers' out-shooting the Felines, eight tries at the hoop to five.

If the first extra five minutes was hard fought, the second was harder. Fumbles from excitement, wild lunges and desperate guarding filled it with color. Again, the R. F. B.'s had more attempts, 8 to 5.

The teams were nearly exhausted. After a hasty consultation, they rested three minutes instead of the regulation two. Then they resumed the leg-pulling match. With their crowd on the floor, yelling encouragement to favorites, lifting cat-calls to the ratters, the athletes strained every muscle and clawed at each other. The ball was never loose. It was clutched into the air for it. Bodies fell on it. After the Cats had made seven throws at the ring to five for the R. F. B.'s, the latter worked the ball under the basket and made a lay-up shot.

It was a trying moment for Hager. Chadsey of the Cats had missed a similar shot three times before. But "Ted" came through.

R. F. B.'s Start Scoring.

Opening the game on a basket by Hager, the R. F. B. five rushed the score to three. The Cats, on the other hand, were slow to start. It was indicated early that the game was to wind up in a free-for-all style. The Felines were late in getting started, but they were quick to form a five man defense that Kober penetrated, but fumbles proved costly.

Many shots were missed by the Cats in the first quarter. The Flyers, on the other hand, came through with cleverly executed baskets. The period ended, 9 to 5, for the Buzzes' aggregation.

Things started napping in the second quarter. Following a free throw by Babcock, Kakusko took full advantage of a big opening and dribbled through to make the score 9 to 8. The Flyers' leading players came along with another of his pretty fingers and then Babcock dumped one through the mouth. Chadsey puts the Cats ahead for the first time with a neat lay-up shot out of bounds play, but it was followed by another by "Bab" on a follow-up. When James made a free throw, the half closed, 14 to 12, for the Cats.

Five Minutes: No Count.

With Wardfield getting the tip-off the majority of times, "Red" Connell fitting into the plays and Bond and Hager guarding actively, the R. F. B.'s gradually worked their way into the lead by the time the third quarter was concluded, 17 to 16. The lone basket in the period for the Flyers was made by Babcock and it came after the squads had battled five minutes without a count. He tipped it in when Chadsey missed. Wardfield started the scoring of the period with a one-handed plunker and Hager forged his five ahead.

"Gopher" Kober, playing a stellar game, tied the count in the fourth quarter, 18-18, after Connell caged a free throw. Two points by the free throw division by Babcock and the Felines took the lead. A nifty basket by James and the R. F. B.'s were on top, 21-20. A beautiful play gave Chadsey a basket, 22-21. Playing under tremendous strain, Wardfield rai the score to 23-22 for the Flyers and apparently sewed it up with another, 25-22. But Kober came to the rescue with a field basket and just before the whistle blew Chadsey sunk a free throw to make it 25-23.

Fourth Quarter.

Rauscher and Bick played in the second half with the Cats, "Butch" roughing things for two personal fouls. Griderly rebounded Bond in the opening of the second half and fitted into the machine. While James displayed a keen eye for the basket, there were times when he failed to mix in the frenzy, especially in the third overtime.

At times, the game settled into a ragged affair, due largely to the tenseness of rivalry.

The fourth battle of the five game series will be played at the same place, the rink, next Saturday night. A capacity crowd is expected. The Flyers now have won two.

court on charges of liquor violations and paid fines. Under the provisions of the federal injunction the brewers are enjoined from manufacturing illegal beer, and 12 violations are claimed of this violation the owners or agents can be brought into court before the judge and sentence imposed. No jury trial is required, according to the law. The government is also empowered to close the brewery for any purpose, for one year and the court also empowered to restrict the business and operations of the brewery. Also the breweries can be required to give suitable bond to assure their business comes within the law.

Another Scheme Possible.

The government has still another way to dry-up the breweries suspected of selling real beer or intoxicants. The government agents can the right to reject or revoke the permit to make near-beer and both methods, the injunction and revocation of permit, can be applied if necessary.

The government will go the limit to stop the breweries that are manufacturing illegal beer for sale, explained U. S. Attorney Dougherty. Several of the breweries have agreed to submit to the injunction in order to keep in a legitimate business.

The federal attorneys let it be known that violations meant that there was a probability that the breweries would be closed for the year as provided for by the law dealing with abatement of nuisances.

Siki Keeps Title But McGuire Wins

Paris—No world's championship was involved in the Siki-McGuire fight at Dublin last Saturday night, won by McGuire according to Albert Bourdariat, vice president of the French Boxing Federation, in a statement to L'Antou.

In the first place, the official said, the rules require the adversary of a champion must challenge formally, which McGuire never did. Secondly, the referee must be appointed by the International Boxing Union. This condition was also unfulfilled.

He concluded Siki may have been beaten by McGuire but that he cannot lose his title of light heavyweight champion because the fight was not for the title.
